For Congress

ROBERT W. DAVIS
of Putnam

NOT FAIR TO BRYAN

The Metropolis is in receipt of a communication from Ocala, signed by Charles W. Campbell, advocating the nomination of Robert Bullock for governor by the state convention. The letter has been published in the Ocala Banner, and the Metropolis sees no occasion to reproduce it. General Bullock is one of the ablest men in the state, but his friend Campbell has done him a great injustice by an attack on Bryan in the same article. No democrat could thus write of Bryan, and it is in justice to General Bullock that we decline to publish such an article, as we know he would denounce such utterances as are contained in the letter.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

The closing hour of congress was a veritable love feast. Patriotic songs were sung and many members who had become estranged by bitter partisan attacks and biased statements shook hands and put the past behind them in the spirit of the moment. It was a noble, manly, inspiring scene. Now, if that generous and kindly spirit could only be carried through the campaign! But will it? We fear not; it is not campaign ethics.

Fatal mistakes are made by those who do not heed the earlier symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble that often end in Bright's disease or diabetes. When Foley's Kidney Cure makes the kidneys well, how foolish it is to DELAY. Anti-Monopoly Drugstore.

Hon. Frank Clark has been made chairman of the Duval delegation to the state convention.

The season is here for negligee shirts and summer suits. Our stock never was so complete and prices so inviting. Convenience and comfort will turn your thoughts towards our stock and if you will step in you can be suited at Rheinauer's.

Bryan has 436 delegates instructed for him, just lacking thirty of the necessary two-thirds vote to nominate, which honor he is sure to secure.

For two years Ira W. Kelley, of Mansfield, Pa., was in poor health on account of kidney trouble. He consulted several physicians and spent considerable money for medicines without obtaining relief until he tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and now writes, "I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of aiding others." Thirty-six dozen bottles of Wintersmith's Chill and Fever Tonic just received at the Anti-Monopoly Drugstore. Everybody uses Wintersmith's Tonic for fevers. Pleasant to take. No cure, no pay.

D. M. Boney, at the Hole in the Wall, has a big trade on his famous 5 cent cigar, "Dixie Girl."

Men may differ on politics, religion or finance, but all who have tried Banner Salve are agreed as to its worth for cuts, burns, sores, piles and skin diseases. It's the most healing medicine in the world. Anti-Monopoly Drugstore.

INDIA'S AWFUL FAMINE

India has been called a land of dreams. It is now a land of horrors, as her people fight with plague and famine. It is no nightmare, but a terrible reality. Thousands of once strong men are now skin and bones, with a terrible gnawing of hunger within. It is a pitiable sight, says Rev. Justin E. Abbott, in Leslie's Weekly, to see tall, manly men so terribly reduced as to be hardly able to walk, yet somehow making their way somewhere to find food. More pitiable are the women, who, with a keen sense of modesty, are fighting womanfully with their fast rotting rags, and their children emaciated, fretful, crying, or too weak to cry, adding to their terrible personal suffering from days of insufficient food. The bodies, finding no nourishment, turn into those little skeletons that one can hold in one's hand.

Thousands of families like these, having exhausted every possible resource, sold and pawned the last article of their possession, having lived somehow for a time on coardest of wild fruits, or roots, or weeds—anything to satisfy that awful craving that comes from days of starvation—tramp many a long, weary mile to find some government, or other, relief. There is the scorching sun by day—unusually scorching this year—the pangs of thirst as well as hunger, for every stream is dry; and when the sun goes down, out in the open fields, with nothing to cover them, they shiver all through the chilly night.

Where can human woe find anything equal to this? And this is the story not of one here and there, but of thousands, of tens of thousands, and will be the sad story of hundreds of thousands. Four months of the famine have passed; months remain before the "monsoon bursts" in June, and brings its usual deluge of rain.

Other missionaries describe finding abandoned children in dying condition, whom they have been able to save, or failed to save because too far gone. The familiar famine scenes are witnessed of famishing people following grain carts and struggling among themselves for the stray kernels that fall by the way. Abandoned children are found subsisting on clods of earth and every possible thing that has nourishment in it, filling up with water to drown the gnawing of hunger and producing those painful monstrosities—bodies swollen out of all proportion, but with sticks of legs and arms, and a head that is but a skin-covered skull. And the babies grow weaker and weaker in their hungry cry, or, silenced by opium, rapidly turn to pitiable little skeletons that move with emotion the strongest hearts that look upon them. What wonder that a despairing mother, unable to endure the sight, and tempted by her own famished body, sells her little one for a few handfuls of grain; and when the famine is over, beats her breast in anguish for her little one, gone she knows not where! The vast camps are being filled. The anxiety and concern of government and officials are greatly on the strain. All departments of the administration, native and otherwise, are called upon to exercise the wisest caution and the utmost vigilance to see that none worthy are neglected and that those not actually reduced to suffering take not the place of the needy. And it should be borne in mind that the prospect must grow gloomier for months to come, up to at least the beginning of the rains in the month of June next. The gravity of the situation needs to be recognized.—Ex.

NO RIGHT TO UGLINESS

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at Garrett & Gerig's, Ocala, and all other druggists.

HOWELL, IND., Nov. 26.
I will always praise Wine of Cardui. It has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken in my life. Please send a book about female diseases to the ladies whose names I enclose.
Mrs. MINNIE STODGHILL.

Wine of Cardui

It isn't necessary for a woman to give particulars. When she says she has "female troubles", other women know what that means. It means days and nights of endless suffering. It means headaches which no tongue can describe. It means that terrible bearing and dragging down in the lower abdomen. It means agonizing backache, and shoulder ache, and arm ache, and aches in the lower limbs. It means nerves on edge—the blues—despondency and loss of hope. It means debilitating drains that the doctors call leucorrhoea. It means martyrdom—sometimes even death seems preferable. And still Wine of Cardui will utterly put those diseases and pains to rout. It has cured thousands of cases when nothing else on earth would. To the budding woman, to the bride, to the wife, to the expectant mother, to those going through
